LARGEST CROWDS HEAR KRYL'S BAND

MOST APPRECIATIVE CROWD ON TOUR, SAYS GREAT LEADER.

BEST MORNING TALK OF 1916 COURSE TODAY

Dr. C. C. Mitchell Talks Entertainingly and Helpfully of Job on Ash Heap and Its Problems.

Tonight.

8:00—Laurant and Concert Party, in a full evening of magic, mystery and music. The crowning success of magical achievement. Admission 50 cents.

Wednesday

2:30—Ada Roach and Company. Unique and clever musical and literary treat by a sextette of platform stars.

3:00—George L. McNutt, the preacher who became a laborer to study the problems of the working man. Admission 35 cents.

8:00—World Wide Peace. A spectacular international pageant by the children of the Junior Chautauqua.

8:45—Ada Roach and Company, introducing in delightful style the specially written musical comedy, "The Heart of the Immigrant." They will show you the time of your life. Admission 35 cents.

Yesterday for many was the best day of the Chautauqua, and it certainly was the banner day in attendance. At night every seat was filled and scores stood around the edges of the tent or sat upon the terrace behind. Rain kept the crowd down in the afternoon and interfered somewhat with the pleasure of the concert.

But last night was perfect. It was cool and everyone felt in trim for a musical treat, and got it. The afternoon program was opened with a descriptive number, of which Kryl seems to be fond this year, six being given in the two concerts. He was also very generous with encores, seldom giving less than three in each number.

The encores were usually popular or well-known selections and with the characteristic sketches were much more pleasing than the harmonics or tone-poem types. Chautauqua crowds are not quiet enough to make any Symphony Orchestra style of numbers possible for music lovers.

Kryl's solos in the afternoon and evening were original. Both gave him a wonderful opportunity to demonstrate his ability on the cornet. As he is universally recognized now as the world's greatest on the cornet it is needless to say that the numbers were much enjoyed. Mr. Kryl remarked privately that Maryville was his most appreciative crowd on this tour. One encore gave a demonstration of that for which he is famous, taking extremely low notes on the cornet.

The war pictures at the evening performance were scarcely up to the standard which had been promised, but the music accompanying them was good enough to compensate for the effete taste of motion picture critics. Trouble with the lights made the program late in beginning. Children near the front also disturbed the musicians considerably during the early part of the evening.

Anvil Chorus Scene.

One of the unique things of the Chautauqua was one of the encores of Kryl. Four of the men dressed as blacksmiths stood at anvils and gave an anvil chorus. All of the lights were shut off and the electric current in both anvils and hammers flashed the lights. The traps man also came in for his share of interest and everyone was delighted in one scene when

SCHOOL BELLS RING SEPT. 4

"Halls of Learning" In Town and County Open Doors for Fall Session In Four Weeks.

The Maryville and Nodaway county school bells will begin their "ding, dong; ding, dong" calling the beginners and the "old-timers" to their books and classes on the first Monday in September, or according to the calendar, on September 4.

By that time all the camping parties will have dispersed, all the tourists will have disposed of the air of other climes gathered in their automobile tires during their journeys, and the children will have played vacation games until they may welcome school as a temporary diversion.

Anyway, whether they like it or not, the inevitable will be upon them before they realize it in just four more weeks.

LEGISLATURE IS DRY

ANTI-SALOON STRENGTH STRONG IN BOTH HOUSES.

LOSES BOTH GOVERNORS

Program of Liquor Opponents May Be Changed But Strong Measures Are Expected.

Although both candidates for governor indorsed by the Missouri Anti-Saloon league in the Republican and Democratic primaries were defeated at the polls Tuesday, the drys of Missouri will come out of the primary with an assured majority in the next legislature, no matter which party carries the state next November.

The list of legislative candidates in both parties, Republican and Democratic, is not yet complete, but enough nominations are now certain to assure a dry legislature. In only a few instances will there be a dry Republican running against a wet Democrat, or vice versa. The opposing candidates are either both dry or both wet, as the district may be.

As a result of Tuesday's primaries the drys claim they have increased their majority in the house of representatives. Last session they had ninety-two members who voted dry on everything. The coming session, no matter which party wins, the drys figure on at least 100 dry members, possibly one or two more.

Senate Safely Against Saloon.

The senate, which is the battle ground of the wets and drys and has always been the brewery bulwark against the overwhelming dry sentiment of the house, apparently will be dry for the first time. The drys were supposed to have the last senators by two votes, but some of their members wouldn't stand hitched and aided in the filibuster which defeated all dry legislation.

Several of these "half way" drys, as a result of Tuesday's primaries, will be replaced by members whose votes can be counted on.

The claim is now made that nineteen of the thirty-four members of the senate will be dry, no matter which party carries the state.

The program of the league for pushing through a state-wide prohibition bill with a peace, health and safety clause attached to prevent a referendum vote on it, probably has been blocked by the defeat of the Anti-Saloon league candidates for governor.

There is a possibility, however, of a state-wide prohibition law going through to be voted upon at a special election. County unit measures for the country and precinct option and early closing bills for the cities also are in sight as a part of the legislative battle as a result of the victory of the drys, on legislative candidates.

ORDERS NEW ROAD BUILT

County Court Instructs J. E. Reese to Survey Highway From Clearmont to Braddyville—Other Work.

The county court in session this week ordered the county highway engineer, J. E. Reese, to survey and assess damages for a new public road in Atchison township north of Clearmont. The new road will be three-fourths of a mile long and will be the road straight out from Clearmont to Braddyville. The report is to be made at the November term of court.

The court appointed Floyd Westfall, Robert Craven and John Jones as appraisers for a new road in White Cloud township to assess damages. They are to report at the November term.

The court ordered a road near Ravenwood to be opened, as the petitioners have deposited $650, the amount of damages according to an appraisement. The road was petitioned by J. W. Moss, Ira Wells and A. B. Crater.

C. E. Graham and Tom Livengood of the Lincoln township board are conferring with the court today relative to the work done on the roads in that township.

A. M. Long, Reuben Barrett and David White of Skidmore were in to see the court about a new bridge west of Skidmore.

HANLY VS. RECALL

PROHIBITION CANDIDATE REPUDIATES PLATFORM PLANK.

AGAINST INITIATIVE ALSO

Former Indiana Governor Who Was a Republican Believes Such Law Would Mean Chaos.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 8.—Former Governor J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for the presidency of the United States, will not support one plank in the prohibition platform at the coming election. That plank is the one indorsing the initiative, referendum and recall. Mr. Hanly made this known today in his speech of acceptance after his official notification of nomination, at his home here, by Robert H. Patton of Illinois, chairman of the prohibition national convention which met at St. Paul.

Mr. Hanly, after setting forth the ideals of the party regarding the abolition of the liquor traffic, said:

"There is in the platform one plank—not reported by the committee of resolutions, but adopted by the convention, which I can neither approve nor accept; which I cannot defend in the campaign; which, if elected, I would oppose; and which, if brought to me as a proposed law, I would veto.

"I refer to the following:

"'We favor the initiative, referendum and recall.'

"My statement in regard to this is based upon the assumption that the declaration implies approval of the initiative, referendum and recall in state and national affairs.

"If so intended, I cannot yield it my assent. So applied, I believe them to be subversive of representative constitutional government.

"Wherever they have obtained they have wrought confusion and harm. Where the initiative and referendum have been applied to the amendment of constitutions, they have made these solemn and organic charters liquid as water, and volatile as oil. They will do the same to the federal constitution. All three are revolutionary, but not progressive. They are the weapons of the bad oftener than they are the defense of the good.

"In my judgment nothing could be fraught with greater peril to state and national prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating liquors than the application of these three principles to the state and national governments.

Some folks are praying for an early frost so it may never be known how big the weeds might grow.

Mr. Wilson will not be notified of his nomination for the presidency until September 15. That will only allow him about six weeks in which to make his campaign in case he decides to accept.

It will take the official count to determine whether Kelly Pool or John L. Sullivan has been nominated for secretary of state. It was supposed that Mr. Pool would win without question. He seems to have been the victim of overconfidence and a name, two names in fact.

The federal farm loan board which is to administer the new federal land bank act has been appointed and organized. It will select the twelve land bank districts and locate the land banks authorized and get ready for business as rapidly as possible. This law is the first attempt ever made by the federal government to provide financial aid for the farmers on long time payments and easy terms. If properly administered it should be a great success and result in great prosperity for those engaged in the great industry of farming.

THE SQUEEZE IN PAPER.

The tremendous increase in the cost of white paper has already brought about serious and important results. Many newspapers throughout the country have already suspended publication and a general raise in subscription rates has been going on during the past two weeks. In the cities the penny papers have been increased to two cents per copy while, in the country, weeklies have been abandoning the time-honored "dollar a year" rate and adding from twenty-five to fifty cents a year to cover the increase in cost of raw materials.

One important result has been a series of hearings before the Federal Trade Commission at Washington with a view to determining the real cause of the rapid increase in prices and to seek relief if possible. The market has been so upset that it has been impossible to get any satisfaction from dealers or manufacturers. It has been mainly a question of getting the necessary supply at any price the manufacturers have seen fit to charge. The big papers charge that the pulp makers and paper manufacturers have taken advantage of a situation created by the war in Europe to reap an unwarranted harvest at the expense of the publishers. Whatever may be the cause, the publishers are the sufferers and there is no relief in sight for a year and possibly much longer.

The Democrat-Forum will continue to give its readers the best paper in Nodaway county at the lowest possible rate. The rate on the daily Democrat-Forum, however, when sent out of the county will be $3.00 a year on and after Sept. 1. This is necessary to cover the cost of the paper and the postage to be paid on papers sent out of Nodaway county.

he imitated a dog so realistically that a pup on the outside of the tent answered. It must also be mentioned that Sousa's "Stars and Stripes" was given in one of the encores.

During the intermission last night Superintendent Sawyers took a hand vote as to how many wanted a Chautauqua next year. A large majority raised their hands. An informal meeting to discuss the plans was held for a short time after the concert last night.

Tonight is children's night, but grown-ups are usually little less enthusiastic over a magician and sleight-of-hand performer. Laurant is different in carrying six people, 1,800 pounds of baggage and $2,000 worth of property. A musical concert continues throughout the evening.

The Best Morning Lecture.

Those who have been attending the morning hour lectures regularly are insisting today that the best by far was given this morning in "The Story of an Ash Heap," by Dr. C. C. Mitchell. It was full of "meaty" sentences which the hearers will long remember. The eternal problem of suffering and trial as first set forth in the drama of Job was the theme.

Dr. Mitchell says that he likes to believe that Job was a real man, not a character in fiction. He believes that this is upheld by the fact that fiction was not known in that day and light reading had not yet usurped the place of heavy thinking. Job was rated as a great and good man because he had plenty without and purity within.

Is the first prerequisite to the second? Must a man have wealth outside to insure goodness inside? If a man is riding in a limousine, does that mean that he is all right, and for the converse if he is tramping along the road does that mean that he is not right? That is the eternal problem of Job. "Does a man serve God for naught?"

The speaker said that the book of Job was different from other books in starting after the man was successful and after his period of love making was done. It is the tale of the trials of a great and rich man whose heart and bank account were Siamese twins and grew up together. Times have changed, Dr. Mitchell believes.

Suspicion on Bullion, Not Boils.

"In Job's time, suspicion was on the man with the boils," he said. "Now it is on the man with the bullion. The dart of distrust of morals is directed now at the millionaire, not the tramp. Men are examined not with the limelight but with the X-ray. What we have are merely the appendixes, and the day of judgment will be operatiug day.

"The devil was cynical as to any man's being good for the sake of goodness. Now you may be asking whether I believe in a personal Satan with hoofs and horns. Yes, I do believe that the spirit of evil is more than a mere atmosphere. But like some one has said, he surely doesn't have hoofs and horns, or the beef trust would have captured him long ago.

"We are puzzling over the Mexican situation; the European war presents an eternal question to us, but these are as mere tiddledewinks to the understanding of why men are gunmen. Why is half of the world God's sunshine and the other half hell's red light. It seems like trying to look through a stone wall to see but here is my theory.

"God wants giants in moral force to spend eternity with him. When he gets ready to put the full glory of heaven upon us, he wants to make sure that we are not humpbacks spiritually. And this vital force cannot be put on like swansdown with a chamois skin but the granite of God's soul is being ground into us by adversity."

Dr. Mitchell then pictured graphically and dramatically the struggles of Job up to his great triumph of faith."

RIGHT FOODS KEEP COOL

DON'T NEED HEAT BUT ENERGY IN SUMMER TIME.

So Quantity and Quality of Eating Should Be Changed, Says University Physician.

"The three chief constituents of foods are proteins which go to the building of tissue, carbohydrates and fats, whose function is to maintain the heat of the body, and to furnish energy," says Dr. M. P. Ravenel of the department of preventive medicine of the University of Missouri.

Dr. Ravenel says that carbohydrates, which includes the starches and sugars, lessen the need of fats, and when taken in excess are stored up in the body as fat. When hard labor is performed we instinctively desire fat. Also, when cold weather comes we have a craving for such foods. During the hot weather a laboring man requires fuel, but not to the extent that he does in winter. There is no demand on the body to keep up the bodily temperatures such as we find during the cold months.

A diet which contains an excess of any of these materials is not apt to be borne well during the hot season, and makes the person who eats it more uncomfortable. Generally speaking, a diet much lighter, both as regards quantity and kinds of food, is to be desired in the summer. Meats, and especially fat meats, should be taken in moderation. Starches can be eaten in moderate abundance, but the amount of sugar should be cut down. An abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables should be taken. While vegetables and fruits do not as a rule contain a great deal of material which is regarded as being nutritious, they nevertheless serve in keeping up the nutrition of the body, as they contain organic acids which keep up the alkalinity of the blood, give variety to the diet, increase the appetite and furnish certain substances which are classed under the general name of antiscrobutics.

In addition to a light diet an abundance of cool water should be taken during the summer months.

HOT WEATHER HURTS COLT

Many Die From Bad Conditions or Profits Are Cut Seriously by Setbacks in Summer Months.

Horse and mule colts suffer more from heat and flies during July and August of their first year than at any other time, according to the experience of the Missouri agricultural experiment station. During these two months many plump, well developed, smooth haired youngsters become thin, pot bellied, listless and begin to show staring coats. In this condition they are likely to be weaned in September and perhaps before they have become thrifty again they are put on a scant supply of dry winter feed. Such setbacks cut profits seriously.

Colts from work mares should be kept in the barn or lots while their mothers are in the field and should not be turned in with their mothers if the mares are warm immediately on their return from the field at noon or in the evening. They should be kept separate until the mothers are thoroughly cooled.

The colts should be eating grain and a little grass or hay by the first of July and if they have not yet learned to eat grain, a clean mixture of equal parts of crushed oats, ground corn and bran should be placed in a trough where they can get it at any time. The lots should have plenty of shade and if the colts are kept in the stable, the stalls should be partially darkened, taking care not to shut out the breezes or free circulation of air. If flies cause much trouble, hang up old burlap bags where the colts can walk under them and scrape the flies off their backs and sides. Proper care may make a difference of from $10 to $40 in the value of the colt at weaning time and these inexpensive methods should be used to increase the owner's profits as well as to make the colt do better.

discussion the following permanent officers were elected: Chairman, M. E. Ford of Polk township; secretary, G. R. Ellison; treasurer, John Murrin. Mr. Murrin has held the place for several years. Mr. Ford, who is to be chairman of the committee, was absent in Colorado on business but is expected home in a few days when the committee will get down to business in earnest. The committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

The newly elected chairmen are under the law members also of the congressional and senatorial committees and the congressional committee is required to meet at some point in the district on the third Tuesday in August to organize and select members to represent this district on the state committee.

Republicans Select Tilson.

W. R. Tilson was again selected as chairman of the Republican county committee, H. L. Raines as secretary and Arch Frank as treasurer, at a meeting of the committee held in Maryville this afternoon.

Every member of the committee was in attendance except A. P. Skeed of Atchison and Samuel Corrough of White Cloud. The other members are Mr. Tilson, S. A. Roach, Grant; F. C. Wilson, Green; H. A. Russell, Hopkins; Ed Goodpasture, Hughes; A. J. Roof, Independence; I. A. Goodson, Jackson; C. J. Merrigan, Jefferson; E. K. Bailey, Lincoln; J. C. Spahr, Monroe; J. W. Praiswater, Nodaway; Wilbur Smith, Union; J. V. Pugh, Washington.

In Union township, the canvassing board official book shows the election of F. M. Wallis as committeeman from that township, but both Messrs. Wallis and Smith say Mr. Smith was elected.

Many of the candidates on the Republican ticket were in attendance at the meeting.

Mr. Tilson will attend next Tuesday the meeting of the congressional committee and at which time two members will be selected from this district on the Republican state committee. Mr. Tilson will also be a member of the senatorial and judicial committees.

DON'T WANT THE JAPS

PHILIPPINES DESIRE ONLY SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Native Leader in Trip to Japan Says United States Is Preferred if Another Nation Rules.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Tokio, Aug. 8.—Mr. Fraicisco Villaneuva, Jr., a practicing attorney of Quiapo, P. I., and son of a member of the legislature of the Philippines, is now visiting Japan and has said some straight things about the rumored desire of the Japanese to acquire the islands. This, as current here, usually takes the form of a statement that the Filipinos wish to get rid of American rule in favor of Japanese.

"It is a lie," said Mr. Villaneuva. "If any foreign country is to rule us it must be the United States. We agitate against American rule because we want self-government, not because we want a change of masters."

The case for the Filipinos is, Mr. Villaneuva said, that they have benefited so much by the American rule that they are now able to rule themselves. American government is good but it is too expensive. They want a government under which they can develop their resources and their own defenses.

"But the fact that we want to discard American rule does not mean that we want Japanese rule. We will never submit to the Japanese as rulers. We want friendship between the two countries but that is all.

"The Japanese have no connection with the culture of the Filipinos. Their affinities are with the continent of Asia. They are not a colonizing race. Dr. Nitobe (a well known Japanese who has just returned from a visit to the Philippines) has written that the Filipinos believe themselves superior to the Japanese. We are superior to the Japanese, from many points of view. We have no rickshaw men. Our women are better treated. Our social customs are better. We want independence but we will never permit that the Japanese people shall become our rulers."

SPEEDERS TO GET BUMPED

Railway Companies in California Devise Method to Make Autoist Slow Up at Tracks.

Los Angeles, Aug. 8.—As an expedient to prevent autoists and motorcyclists from speeding across railway tracks to their own peril, a series of "bumps" at grade crossing approaches is projected by the Pacific Electric railway in Southern California. The project is endorsed by the automobile club of Southern California, and the state railroad commissioners have suggested that the "bump" proposition be given a trial at all grade crossings.

The project is a very simple one, being simply a series of shallow ditches for a short distance across the roads on each side of the railway tracks which they cross. These depressions or "bumps" will give the motorist sufficient notice of the proximity of dangerous railway crossings to permit of stopping his machine before the tracks are reached.

There is No Stopping Place

To The Progressive Merchant There is No Stopping Place.

There is no place to rest on your oars.

There is no time when you can settle back and say, "No use to do anything now. There wouldn't be any business now anyway."

You have either got to keep on "going forward," or some one else will come along and pass you and reap rewards that should be yours if you worked for them.

New plans should go into operation now that will bear fruit a few weeks later or maybe a year later. You have got to commence talking to people a long time before you convince them that it will pay them to deal with you. Long before a new business or a new article is put on the market, or sold to the buyer it is talked about, advertised. It's the same way with your merchandise. The sooner you commence to introduce it the easier it will be to sell it when the buyer is ready to make the purchase. And the more inclined he will be to deal with you instead of someone else.

Commence your selling plans now. Tell the public what you have to sell and the things you will have to sell.

Base your selling on consistent tested publicity. Not plans picked up at random, or freak advertising or selling schemes. These kind or more apt to bring negative than positive results.

Go after the buyer with fair and consistent, day in and day out buying facts, and your way to winning will be many times easier.

Never let yourself believe you have come to a stopping place, a vacant place in business.

OUR NAVAL SCHOOL

Origin and Rise of the Grand Institution at Annapolis.

BANCROFT GOT IT STARTED.

He Worked For Its Establishment With Untiring Zeal, and It Was Formally Opened on Oct. 10, 1845—Our Previous Naval Schools.

We had a military academy almost half a century before we had a naval academy. It was not until the administration of President James K. Polk that the government thought it necessary to establish a naval academy at which young men could be educated for that part of our protective service.

George Bancroft was the founder of the United States Naval academy which was at first called the Naval school. It was formally opened at Annapolis on Oct. 10, 1845. For several years prior to this effort there was a school working along similar lines at the Naval asylum in Philadelphia, where the midshipmen prepared themselves for examination and promotion.

The school was reorganized in 1850 and the course was increased from five to seven, the first and last two years to be passed at the school, the intervening years at sea. At this time the separate departments of instruction were established, a vessel was provided and annual practice cruises were instituted. In 1851 the requirements of sea service were abolished, leaving the course four consecutive years of study.

At the outbreak of the war in 1861 the Naval academy was removed to Newport, R. I., where it remained until the summer of 1865, when it was reestablished at Annapolis. In 1870 the title of cadet midshipmen was substituted for midshipman, and three years later the course was increased by the addition of two years' sea service in cruising vessels, at the expiration of which the cadet midshipman returned to the Naval academy for examination in professional subjects prior to graduation.

Previous to the establishing of the Naval academy several attempts had been made to establish training schools for officers and sailors of the navy. In 1838 Captain M. C. Perry suggested a school for engineers, but little was accomplished before Bancroft called the meeting in Philadelphia which decided the establishing of the present school.

At first there was considerable of a wrangle as to where the school should be located. The site finally chosen was an old army post known as Fort Severn, located on the point of land which forms the easternmost extremity of the city of Annapolis and lies between the harbor and the Severn river. Poor as the place was in the eyes of Bancroft, he saw that it was far less likely to challenge congressional criticism than a more pretentious habitation, and besides, as the board of naval officers had said, the fact was undeniably true that it might "be enlarged and perfected at some future time."

Fort Severn was duly transferred by the war department to the navy on Aug. 15, 1845, and a fortnight afterward Secretary Bancroft published his "plan," which, together with the "regulations" subsequently prepared by Commander Buchanan, governed the workings of the school until 1850. The first superintendent of the Naval academy was Commander Franklin Buchanan.

At 11 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 10, 1845, all hands assembled in one of the recitation rooms, and the superintendent, after a brief but pointed address, in which he announced he should exact rigid compliance with all laws, orders and regulations, declared the school open. The old buildings at the ancient army post at Annapolis, where the midshipmen began to receive instruction, had been termed by Secretary Bancroft "a modest shelter for the pupils," and it is said that they certainly deserved no more complimentary description.

Mr. Bancroft at once began plans to have the academy more commodiously housed, and he asked congress for an appropriation of $28,000 to be expended for repairs, improvements and instructions at Fort Severn, Annapolis. The secretary brought all his diplomacy and skill to bear, and at last had the profound satisfaction of receiving the appropriation by an ample majority and of seeing the naval school of the United States then become duly organized by law.

Thus ended the long fight for it. Three days after the bill became a law Secretary Bancroft directed the superintendent to enlarge the buildings and construct new ones sufficient to accommodate 100 midshipmen. This small beginning was the foundation of the present large and effective institution, which trains the sailors in a way equal to that furnished by any other country in the world.—Philadelphia Press.

Train Your Dog to Wipe His Feet.

A puppy can easily be taught to wipe its feet on the doormat when entering a house, and the habit once formed is seldom broken. The modus operandi is simple. Every time the dog is brought to the door the command is given, "Wipe your feet." The trainer then lifts each paw in succession and pulls it twice across the mat. In a few days the dog will be wiping his own feet.—Good Housekeeping.

FIFTY FEET OF SNOW RIGHT IN U. S. IN JULY

Visitors Find It About a Crater Within Eighteen Miles of Santa Fe.

Santa Fe, N. M.—Snow fifty feet deep within eighteen miles of Santa Fe in July is a fact which is likely to cause a good many people to revise their ideas of the "Great American desert," of which so much is heard in the east.

Visitors at Santa Fe lake and to the top of the lake and Penitente peaks have found snow cornices around the crest of the crater overlooking the lake basin which sloped off gently from the top, the outer edge of the snow breaking off abruptly in walls which ranged from twenty to fifty feet in height.

There is no doubt from the measurements of these snow precipices that the snowfall in midwinter must have been fifteen to twenty feet in places and that the peaks were clothed in a solid mass of snow from bottom to summit. There are still masses of snow scattered all round the lake which are still four or five feet thick.

But for the warm rains that come later snow probably would lie in the basin from year's end to year's end. Despite the hot July sun, the air is so cool at the peak level, more than 12,000 feet above the sea, that the snow cornices are melting very slowly.

MODEL HOME FOR WOMEN WHO HAVE LOST WEALTH

Brothers of the Late Miss Jenkins to Carry Out Her Wishes For Project.

Baltimore.—In memory of Miss Eliza Jenkins, a rich philanthropic woman who died recently, the old Jenkins mansion will be made a home for elderly women of refinement and culture who are thrown on the world for support. This project had long been a pet idea of Miss Jenkins, and to Cardinal Gibbons and other friends she often spoke of it, saying how pitiful it would be to her should her fortune be swept away and she be forced to go to an institution, with its discipline and restraint.

Following the family rule, Miss Jenkins left no will, but her brothers, Joseph W. and George C., have made the arrangements they know she desired. The home will be carried along on lines unlike those of any other home in the United States. The house is to be remodeled and provision made for thirty occupants. They will be free to come and go as they please, will have their own rooms and servants and even a certain allowance of money to purchase the little things so dear to the hearts of women used to wealth.

Recently another Jenkins house was turned over to the St. Vincent de Paul society. This house is also to be remodeled and will become an institution for special schooling for children.

BAD BOY'S PRANKS.

California Lad Said He Was Emulating Huckleberry Finn.

San Rafael, Cal.—In an attempt, he said, to emulate Huckleberry Finn, Peter Scheutten, the seventeen-year-old son of Mrs. Peter Scheutten of Santa Venetia, became so troublesome that he was sentenced to serve sixty days in the county jail. He painted the family cow so as to resemble a zebra, threw rubber down the chimney, placed salt in the sugar bowl and fed the horse sawdust instead of bran.

On recommendation of Justice of the Peace W. F. Magee, who sentenced him, Peter was admitted to parole recently. Within an hour after he was liberated Peter had smeared mustard on his mother's pillow, sold her $50 deerhound for 25 cents and then bought candy with the quarter; picked a live chicken and removed a bolt from the family buggy so that it collapsed when his mother started for a drive.

LED ONLY HIMSELF IN CHARGE

French Officer Whose Men Failed to Follow Spared by Foe.

Berlin.—A correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger at the front in the Argonne is quoted in an Overseas News agency statement regarding an incident that occurred in the fighting in that region.

"A French officer," says the report, "commanded to attack German chasseurs, cried 'En avant!' and jumped from his trench. He had advanced several steps when he saw that no one was following him. The Germans refrained from firing. Then the French officer, after waiting alone for a short time, saluted the German trench with his sword and returned to his own trench."

BAD TEETH MADE HER STEAL.

Maid Says She Took Money to Have Dental Work Done.

St. Louis.—Bad teeth and a desire for a new dress were the reasons given to the police by Anna Fischer, seventeen years old, a maid at the Deaconess hospital, for the theft of $80 from Miss Ella Loew, a nurse, following the girl's arrest.

"I spent $62 getting my teeth fixed," the girl told the detectives, "and the rest I spent on a dress. That's all. The money was lying on a dresser when I cleaned the room, and it was too great a temptation, because I had suffered for some time with my teeth."

SUNDAY A FARMER

Ma, Too, Dresses the Part on Their Hood River (Ore.) Ranch.

TAKE KEEN INTEREST IN WORK

Evangelist, Resting After a Strenuous Year, Says the Pine Odor Laden Air Renews His Strength—In Fields Nearly All the Time.

Hood River, Ore.—Billy Sunday, whose evangelistic sermons have been heard by at least a million people in the course of a year, never wears the conventional frock of the minister, but just now may be seen at almost any hour between dawn and twilight, dressed in brogans, overalls, khaki jacket and slouch hat, engaged in the labor of a rancher at the Hood river valley country home of the Sundays in the Odell district. It is "Farmer" Sunday now, if you please, and Mr. Sunday always dresses the part.

Billy Sunday and "Ma," his faithful coworker, with two of their children, Billy junior and Paul, recently arrived for a vacation sojourn on the ranch. Billy Sunday, whose first fame came from his aggressive baseball playing as a member of the Chicago White Sox team in the late eighties, for the time being has apparently forgotten baseball and evangelism. The caller at the Odell place on a summer day will find Mr. and Mrs. Sunday out in the open air weeding flowers, picking berries, helping with the hay, opening rills of irrigation ditches, watching the antics of pigs or ponies or engaged in some sort of open air game.

When the writer, accompanying the Rev. W. B. Young, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church of this city, and his wife, visited the Sunday home Mrs. Sunday was picking red raspberries and currants, which were being made into delicious sun cooked preserves and jellies.

"Our jellies," Mrs. Sunday said, "are just as good as the choicest confections."

Sunday was soon located, and he told his visitors while he kept hoeing that the pine odor laden air renews his strength.

MEN HAD HORNS THEN.

Archaeologists Find Skulls of Prehistoric Giants Near Athens, Pa.

Athens, Pa.—The archaeologists who are traversing the Susquehanna river valley, visiting sites of Indian villages and digging up aborigines and other relics are said to have made a most astounding discovery on the Murray farm, near here, in finding the bones of sixty-eight prehistoric men.

The average height of these men when their skeletons were assembled was seven feet, while many were much taller. Additional evidence of their gigantic size is found in the massive stone battleaxes in their graves. The average age of these men is said to have been from thirty to forty.

Another amazing point of this discovery is the allegation that "perfectly formed skulls were found from which horns grew straight out from the head."

KITTENS DISPLACE LAP DOGS.

Paris Actresses Carry Tabbies to Bois de Boulogne.

London.—The Parisienne is forsaking her lap dog of former days and taking to the kitten as a pet, according to the Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette.

The correspondent does not attempt to say whether the change is due to hard times, to the doubled dog tax or merely to an inexplicable whim of the moment. He says:

"Actresses whose popularity is sufficient to shield them from the reproach of seeking a new form of personal advertisement have lately taken to frequenting the Bois de Boulogne at the fashionable parade hour with the dearest of little tabbies snuggling roguishly in their arms or gamboling riotously round and about them."

Largest Mirror Ever Cast.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The 100 inch diameter reflector for the Mount Wilson observatory in California, which will be finished early next year, will be the largest mirror ever cast. It will be thirteen inches thick and will contain, in one solid piece, four and one-half tons of glass.

KINGLY QUEENS.

Elizabeth of England, Maria Theresa and Catherine the Great.

It is said that Queen Elizabeth bore a greater variety of popular nicknames than any other British sovereign. She was called the "Virgin Queen," "Gloriana," "Good Queen Bess" and occasionally in compliment to her masculine mind "King Elizabeth." Her successor, James I., proved such a feeble and effeminate monarch by contrast to the kingly queen that he incurred the nickname, rarely ventured in public, but frequently in the privacy of safe company, of "Queen James."

Elizabeth's masculine nickname, although less familiar to us today than most of the others applied to her, is recognized in Southey's punning stanza upon the armada, in which he makes playful and patriotic use of it in conjunction with the name of her great naval commander, Sir Francis Drake:

Oh, Nature! To old England still Continue these mistakes.
Give us for all our kings such queens
And for our Dux such Drakes!

The kingliness of other queens than Queen Elizabeth has been recognized sometimes in one way and sometimes in another. When Maria Theresa in the hour of her country's peril appealed in person to the Hungarian noblemen to try their loyalty to herself and her young son the fire and eloquence of her address so moved them that as their swords flashed from the scabbards and they crowded about her, waving the naked blades in token of fealty, they shouted fervently:

"We will die for our king, Maria Theresa!"

In 1794 when General Suvaroff, after the second partition of Poland, stormed and captured Praga after a twelve hours' desperate battle against a superior force he reported the victory to his imperial mistress, Catharine the Great of Russia, in these words:

"Hurrah! Praga! Suvaroff!"

To this message Catharine, "as befitted a king and a commander," says the historian, answered with equal brevity, conveying in three words both congratulation and promotion:

"Bravo! Field marshal! Catharine!"

BISMARCK AS A SPEAKER.

How the Great Prussian Statesman Impressed Andrew D. White.

It was my good fortune to hear Bismarck publicly discuss many important questions, and his way of speaking was not like that of any other man I have ever heard. He was always clothed in the undress uniform of a Prussian general, and as he rose his bulk made him imposing.

His first utterances were disappointing. He seemed wheezy, rambling, incoherent, with a sort of burdensome self consciousness checking his ideas and clogging his words. His manner was fidgety, his arms being thrown uneasily about and his fingers fumbling his mustache or his clothing or the papers on his desk.

He puffed, snorted and floundered, seemed to make assertions without proof and phrases without point, when suddenly he would utter a statement so pregnant as to clear up a whole policy, or a sentence so audacious as to paralyze a whole line of his opponents, or a phrase so vivid as to run through the nation and electrify it.

Then perhaps after more rumbling and rambling came a clean, clear, historical illustration carrying conviction. Then very likely a simple and strong argument, not infrequently ended by some heavy missile in the shape of an accusation or taunt hurled in the faces of his adversaries. Then perhaps at considerable length a mixture of caustic criticism and personal reminiscence, in which sparkled those wonderful sayings which have gone through the empire and settled deeply into the German heart.—"Autobiography of Andrew D. White."

Hearing an Electric Current.

An interesting electrical experiment illustrating the fact that sound accompanies the passage of electricity through the body can be shown in the following manner: Let two persons each hold an electrode from a small magneto or shocking coil. Let one person with his free hand touch the other person behind and just below the ear. A buzzing sound, otherwise inaudible, can be heard. The tone of the sound depends upon the number of interruptions of the current.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not a Matter of Money.

One's wordly possessions seem to have very little to do in the matter of determining one's happiness, and we verily believe that we got just as much pleasure and satisfaction out of life in the old days of our poverty, when we used to give our wife a carpet sweeper for Christmas, as we do now, when we give her half a dozen salad forks.—Ohio State Journal.

Summery Gown Easy to Make

THE materials of this frock are white net, figured foulard and good style. The entire skirt is ruffled, net edged with val lace like the quaint bertha and cuffs. The blouse of king's blue and white figured silk has a short peplum cut in a drape that makes a front panel. A girdle and tiny buttons of blue taffeta set off the airy garment.

A new sort of neck fixing is the bandana handkerchief of silk to be worn with sports suits. Scotch plaided effects are shown as well as the familiar black, orange, green and red patterns. Allover flowered patterns on white grounds in men's size handkerchiefs are also new bits for neck adornment, and white silk squares with Dresden flower borders are among the novelties offered. The method of wearing is to knot them around the neck, cowboy fashion, or with long ends hanging from the pockets of sports skirt or coat.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

San Antonio, Aug. 9.—"The woods are full o 'em," Major General Frederick Funston said today. He referred to the number of generals, of all degrees, serving under his command.

It is a fact that there are more generals of varying rank now under General Funston along the Mexican border in the Southern department of the United States than perhaps ever before were gathered under one officer.

There are no less than thirty generals now subordinate to General Funston. They include Major General John J. Pershing, recently created a major general, commanding the punitive expedition in Mexico; Brigadier General George Bell Jr., commanding at El Paso; Brigadier General James Parker, commanding at Brownsville; Brigadier Generals Mann and Greene, commanding at Eagle Pass and Laredo respectively; Brigadier General George A. Dodd, newly created, still with his "dashing" cavalry in Mexico, all of the regular army, and in addition Major Generals O'Ryan of New York, Clemmons of Peansylvania and all the militia brigadier generals in command of the various state guardsmen.

This $3,000 has caused the stakes to fill quickly by the entry of America's greatest saddle horses and the youngsters. Missouri, Kentucky, Illinois and Colorado will be represented by the greatest saddle horses ever produced upon American soil. Time was when a great horse was mentioned our thoughts naturally fell upon Kentucky as its place of nativity, but today Missouri can lay claim to the breeding and training of some of the finest on earth. This feature of the great state fair should be sufficient in itself to bring every lover of a fine horse to Sedalia fair week.

KANSAS CITY MARKET LETTER.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Aug. 8, 1916.—Cattle closed last week 25 to 40 cents higher than Monday, due to strong demand from both killers and feeder buyers, and reduced receipts. The good gain failed to dislodge a big run today, 19,000 arriving, and prices are strong to 10 cents higher. Pasture men realize that they must depend on feeder buyers for competition on a great many of their cattle, the same not having gotten fat yet, and they are waiting till the feeder demand becomes more active.

Beef Cattle.

The proportion of killing grades was rather light today, and killer buyers had good orders. Sales agreeably surprised shippers who had cattle here last Monday and none since then. Top fed steers brought $10, fair to good fed steers $8.50 to $9.50, Kansas pasture steers $7 to $8.80, the good ones $8 and upward, light weight Kansas and Oklahoma steers, $6.25 to $7.25, fed Texas steers in the quarantine division $8 to $8.50, Oklahoma grass quarantines $6.25 to $7.80. Cowstuff sold steady, best natives $6.75 to $7.50, grass cows $5.50 to $6.50, bulls $5.50 to $6.50, veals $9.50 to $11.00.

Stockers and Feeders.

More buyers came in after the middle of last week, and not enough cattle were here to go around Wednesday and Thursday, though the market closed with the usual Friday weakness. Receipts today are more liberal, and there are enough buyers present to hold prices steady. Most of the stock cattle sell under $7, and feeders at $6.75 to $7.50, a few choice cattle around $8, stock cows and heifers $5 to $6.75.

Hogs.

Last week closed with a big advance, and the market is 5 to 10 cents higher today. Light hogs have rushed to the front, topping the market today at $9.85, medium weights $9.80, heavy hogs $9.75, bulk $9.60 to $9.80. Order buyers have good orders for light weight hogs, and local packers are also after them. Receipts were 12,000 today, 4,000 more than the early morning estimate. The hog supply has a way of overrunning the estimate frequently, which sugegsts plentitude in the country. However, recent competition has been so strong that packers have temporarily abandoned their efforts to work prices lower.

Sheep and Lambs.

Lambs advanced 50 to 75 cents last week, and sold strong to higher today, receipts only 4,000 head. Local killers are in an extremity of need for supplies, because of continued light runs, and one packer had to fill his orders with feeding lambs today, paying $9.50 for them, against a bid of $9.25 and $9.35 from a feeder buyer. Utah lambs brought $11 and $11.15 today, light weights, and 15 to 25 cents under the limit of the market for choice lambs, no Arizonas here today, natives $10.25 to $10.75, ewes $7 to $7.60, breeding ewes $7.50 to $9.25.

WOMEN PROGRESS

Foresee Emancipation of Sex as Result of War.

LEARNING MEN'S TRADES.

Competition Between Male and Female Labor Expected After Conflict. Look For Transformation of Household to Meet Condition.

Paris.—"Feminism is making great strides during the war," says Eugene Brieux, member of the French academy, discussing the future of the women of France. He predicts "a violent phase in the war of sexes" when the soldiers come home.

"Competition between male and female labor will be fierce," according to M. Brieux, and he says "women will abandon the career of housewife, while young girls, having learned how to provide for themselves, will no longer look to man as a prospective protector."

Marcel Prevost, another academician, expects the women who have learned to use the lathe making projectiles will turn out parts of automobiles and all kinds of machinery after the war.

Dr. Madeleine Pelletier, one of the leading French suffragettes, who says she despaired of feminism before the war, now thinks the necessities of life are going to impose what years of propaganda failed to effect—the emancipation of women.

As to domestic life, Mme. Pelletier looks for a complete transformation of the household to put it in accord with new conditions.

"Dirty dishes will be laid out on the doormat to be taken away by specialists, who will deposit them cleaned in the same place," she says. "Stockings will be darned by other specialists, leaving the women of the family to earn the price of two pairs in the time they would take to stop up the holes of one. Cooking as well as dishwashing will be done by specialists, while the lady of the house concentrates her attention upon the shop or the factory."

Mme. Pelletier as well as the academicians neglects the question as to what will become of the children. "It will be quite necessary for France to think of the children, though," writes a woman temporarily working at the lathe. "Future generations," she points out, "must make up the wastage of war in human life, and nothing could be more inopportune now than encouragement of the separation of woman from the home and the smothering of family sentiment."

BULL CHASES AUTO.

Owner Drove Machine Around a Field Until Animal Was Tired.

Federalsburg, Md.—Twiford Williams, a farmer living near here, had a thrilling experience with an infuriated bull. Williams ran his motor-car into a field to look over the bull, which he was contemplating buying. The bull made a dash for the machine.

Williams quickly turned on all the power the car contained and the machine shot away at a fifty mile an hour clip, but when it reached the gate leading out of the field Williams could not make the turn at such high speed.

The bull chased him around the field repeatedly and made desperate attempts to head off the car, but Williams, by carefully manipulating the steering wheel, managed to elude the beast, which finally became tired and gave the frightened man a chance to escape through the gate.

MADE FISH COOL; HOOKED 'EM.

Dropped Ice In Weeds, and In Short Time Captured Bass.

Rochester, N. Y.—Hibbard Raymond of the Lake Keuka Fishing club has discovered a new way to catch black bass in hot weather.

"Bass feel the hot weather as much as we do," he said, "so I planned to make a place for them to cool off in and then catch them out of it.

"I took a cake of ice and dropped it in the weeds in the rocky cove off Fish point. Two hours later I drifted by the spot with golden shiners on my hooks and captured two bass, one two and one-half and the other three pounds. I wheeled around and snagged a four pounder. A few minutes later I had caught eight nice bass. The cool water is refreshing to the bass and sharpens their appetites."

PLOWS UP BOX OF COINS.

A Thousand Dollars In Silver Found on Louisiana Farm.

Ruston, La.—While John W. Skinner, a farmer of this section, was plowing his field the blade of his plow struck an old iron box, which burst open, revealing more than $1,000 in old silver coin.

The money was brought here and deposited in a bank. It is mostly of foreign mintage, and some of the pieces are 139 years old. The identity of the original owner could not be traced.

Lightning Shatters a Clock.

Tiffin, O.—A bolt of lightning struck the chimney of the H. W. McFerren house in Tiffin during a heavy electrical storm recently. The bolt did not disturb either the brick or the plaster, but followed the chimney to the interior of the house, where it struck a clock on a mantelpiece and scattered the wheels and other workings all over the floor. There was no other damage.

LAMB HAS SIX LEGS.

Healthful and Freakish, It Is the Delight of the Children.

Ogden, Utah.—A six-weeks-old lamb with six legs is the unique pet recently brought to this city by Frank Smyth, secretary of the Intermountain Land and Live Stock company, from the company's headquarters in Boxelder county.

Although freak lambs are not uncommon, sheepmen contend that few of them live more than a few weeks. The freak animal owned by Mr. Smyth is said to be as frisky as any normal lamb at the age of six weeks and promises to develop into a healthy sheep.

The extra pair of legs are attached to the ribs just behind the shoulder blades. The limbs are somewhat crooked, the toes pointing in a variety of directions, but the extra legs do not interfere with normal use of the regular fore limbs. Mr. Smyth allows his pet to graze on the lawn in front of his house, where it has become the playmate of nearly all the children in the neighborhood.

MUST HONOR NATIONAL AIR.

Baltimore May Fine Those Who Do Not Stand When It Is Played.

Baltimore. — Policemen distributed copies of a municipal ordinance providing that "musicians, performers or other persons shall stand while playing, singing or rendering 'The Star Spangled Banner.'" Any person violating the provisions of the ordinance "shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $100."

Copies of the ordiance were distributed at all theaters, moving picture halls, restaurants and cafes and to the offices of all musical unions or branches in Baltimore.

In the circular it is pointed out that the "indiscriminate rendition of 'The Star Spangled Banner' or parts thereof in connection with other compositions tends to lower the esteem and reverence in which the national anthem should be held by the people of the nation."

PAYS FOR HIS MUSTACHE.

Saloon Keeper Gives Mitchell $10 For Half the Adornment.

Carterville, Mo.—For the loss of the right side of his mustache, which he had cultivated for nearly fifteen years and which, it is said, was long enough to be wrapped around his ear, William Mitchell has been compensated by Sherman Smith, in whose saloon the adornment was cut off recently.

Mitchell had been in the saloon only a few minutes when a loiterer clipped off half the mustache. Mitchell threatened the arrest of the saloon keeper, but Smith's counsel consulted Mitchell and learned the monetary value at which he held the lost half of his mustache, which was $10. This amount was paid to him, and he withdrew the charge. The loss of one-half of the mustache has not weighed sufficiently with Mitchell to prompt him to accept the loss of the other half, and he still is wearing what has been left to him.

DYNAMITE FOR MOSQUITOES.

West Haddonfield, N. J., Tries Blasting and Meets With Success.

West Haddonfield, N. J.—This borough has found dynamite an effective weapon to use in combating mosquitoes. A paragraph in the borough year book, just out, says:

"The residents of West Haddonfield were for years pestered and tormented by mosquitoes which, it was learned upon investigation, were propagated in stagnant pools between the railroad and Haddon avenue. It was found practically impossible to drain these to the street gutters; hence another method had to be employed, and it was decided to sink the water into the ground. Under the supervision of L. Z. Lawrence a heavy charge of dynamite was sunk and discharged about twenty feet under the surface. This caused the pools to disappear in short order, and no water has accumulated at this point up to the end of the year."

REAL SNAKE BITE CURE.

Onion, Turpentine and Whisky, Says Pennsylvanian.

Connellsville, Pa.—A combination of onion juice, turpentine and whisky proved efficacious when Robert Sanner, forty-five, was bitten by a copperhead on the farm of Jay Caldwell, in Saltlick township. Sanner was working in a field when he was attacked by the snake, which measured eighteen inches in length.

Without an instant's hesitation Sanner leaped over a nearby fence and tore up an onion sprout. Biting it, he rubbed the juice on the wound. He then called for turpentine, which was applied, and to top it off he drank copious drafts of moonshine whisky.

TROUT JUMPS INTO BOAT.

Fisherman's Story From a California Lake.

Fullerton, Cal.—R. S. Gregory, former mayor of Fullerton, who has returned from a fishing trip to Big Bear lake, is recounting a tale of how a four and a half pound trout leaped from the waters of the lake into the boat from which he was fishing.

Gregory hooked the trout and payed out line for sixty feet. As suddenly as the fish had struck the line slackened.

"I've lost him!" Gregory lamented. An instant later there was a splash by the boat, the fish flashed through the air, cleared the side of the boat and landed in the bottom at the fisherman's feet.

AVIATION ILLNESS.

Peculiar Distress That Comes to Many Aerial Navigators.

FLIERS SHOULD BE ROBUST.

They Should Also Be Young, Resolute and Cool Headed, With Sight and Hearing and Nervous and Vascular Systems Perfectly Sound.

Those who are up into the air in flying machines as well as those who go down to the sea in ships are troubled by peculiar and unpleasant physiological disturbances which may at times be of grave moment. This is especially true of aeroplane pilots or passengers and to less degree of those who ascend in balloons or dirigibles. The tremendous importance of aviation in war lends this subject peculiar interest, and Larousse Mensuel (Paris) devotes a special article to the topic. The author, Dr. Laumonier, states that the symptoms vary according to the period of ascent, of descent and of landing.

In ascending an acceleration of the respiration and pulse are frequently noted at from 1,200 to 1,500 meters altitude, accompanied by a slight headache located in forehead and temples and by indefinable discomfort without vomiting or nausea. At 1,800 meters there is a diminution in the keenness of hearing; at times there are hallucinations and finally an "asthenic" condition which prevents the muscles from obeying the will with adequate rapidity.

On descending the palpitations of the heart become violent and are accompanied by a sensation of anguish, the headache is intense, the aviator has an increasing sensation of heat of the skin, especially of the face, and a desire to sleep, which is sometimes so strong that the eyes involuntarily close as he approaches the earth, in spite of imminent peril.

Strange to say, on landing these troubles are augmented. Besides the headache and the somnolence, hyperemia of the conjunctive (conjunctives) is observed, with cyanosis of the extremities, acceleration of the pulse and constant increase of arterial pressure. The aviator often falls asleep as soon as he lands, and this sleep is troubled and nonrefreshing, while the headache may persist for many hours or even several days.

The ascent symptoms recall those of "mountain sickness," but are produced at a less altitude, because of the nervous tension, the cold and above all the relative rapidity of ascension. But what distinguishes aviators' sickness from mountain sickness is that the symptoms persist during descent and are aggravated after landing. There are besides vasomotor reactions with hypertension which are peculiar to this malady and give it, according to Cruchet and Moulinier, a sort of nosographic autonomy. However, these troubles are not felt with the same intensity by all aviators. Some find they diminish with experience, as in the case of seasickness. It appears to be true that their intensity depends principally on the rapidity of the descent.

The causes to which are ascribed these symptoms include cold and physical, nervous and moral fatigue. While cold may provoke the imperious need of sleep, it cannot be the sole cause, since the somnolence increases on descending into warmer air and after landing. Analogous objections are made to fatigue as a cause.

The most important of the determining causes, according to the authorities quoted above, is speed, not horizontal, but vertical speed, which causes rapid decompression and recompression in ascending and descending. At Pau Legagneux ascended to 3,200 meters in twenty-eight minutes, whereas it would have taken an Alpinist eleven hours to ascend the same distance on foot. At Varenne-sur-Allier Vedrines descended in three minutes from a height of 3,000 meters. The difference of gaseous tension is too great for the organism to regain its equilibrium in so short a time.

Since these symptoms are not morbid they disappear naturally in a few hours or at most a few days, their cessation being favored by rest, sleep and moderate warmth. Nevertheless they are of grave importance because of the dangers to which they expose aviators.

Hence it is highly advisable that fliers should be young, robust, resolute and cool headed men, with sight, hearing, nervous and vascular systems perfectly sound. And there should be rigorous elimination of candidates who have a tendency to heart trouble, epilepsy, tuberculosis, hardening of arteries, nervous troubles, etc. They should have methodical and progressive training, a diet nourishing, but not bulky, and as little fermentable as possible. They must abstain from alcohol and not abuse tea or coffee.

The clothing must be very warm, but not heavy enough to restrict movement. The wearing of goggles, putting cotton in the nostrils and greasing face and hands will be sufficient protection against cold. Finally they are advised to mount as slowly as possible and to descend even more slowly.

Where the Blame Lay.

The Duke de Montausier, preceptor to the dauphin, son of Louis XIV., being told by the king that he had pardoned a man who had killed nineteen persons after having been pardoned for the first murder he committed, replied: "Sire, he killed but one. Your majesty killed the nineteen."

Manufacturing sorrow is one of the worst of sins.

PARCEL POST TO CHINA

Postmaster Burleson Establishes System Between U. S. and Orient—Three Years Negotiations.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Parcel post service between the United States and China became operative today. Postmaster General Burleson announced that beginning today packages up to eleven pounds in weight may be sent from any postoffice in the United States to any postoffice in China at the postage rate of 12 cents a pound.

The agreement which makes possible the parcel post service between the orient and this nation was entered into following three years of negotiations. The convention was signed by Chow Wan Pang, head of the Chinese postal service, May 29, 1916, and by Postmaster General Burleson July 11, 1916. President Wilson ratified the convention July 12.

Until today packages of merchandise other than bona fide trade samples not exceeding twelve ounces in weight could not be sent by mail from this country to China except to a few places that could be reached through Japanese or other foreign postoffices in China.
